

CHAPTER V

"Snape's Plan Backfires, Goes Up In Smoke"

As soon as the Galaxy Rangers, those who were revived to full health status felt themselves strong and healthy again and no longer suffering side effects of the poisoned potion they accidentally consumed, Acorn began asking Amy, Bunnie, Geoffrey, Slippy, Falco, Tigress, Kato how they felt. Each gave back his/her answer in return.

KATO: Well, no more chills.

FALCO: No more painful cramps in the stomach area.

TIGRESS: No more sweat running down our faces.

SLIPPY: And no constant hurling time to time, that's for sure.

GEOFFREY: Yeah, having to always get up and go to the bathroom, what a bother.

BUNNIE: You can say that, sugar.

AMY: Ooooooh, <angry glare> I want payback, now!

SALLY: Aye, payback my dear. But our cause is not revenge against the Empire. For now we must prevent the former teacher, Professor Snape from using a mind control potion he's conjured up to take control of people's minds.

DUMBLEDORE: Goodness, are you sure about that?

SALLY: Yes, head master.

DUMBLEDORE: Oh, my. <looks alarmed>

MCGONAGALL: Then we must stop those Syndicate idiots from harming innocent muggles, turning them into slaves.

HARRY and CO: Victory for the Galactic Alliance of Mobius! <raise their wands to the air, tap them together like swords>

Just then, Hagrid enters the hospital wing with Nicole, both have good news to report.

HAGRID: Nicole and I rounded up some more potions, the program tested them herself to make sure they were safe.

NICOLE: That is affirmative, they are safe to consume...better also re-charge your power morphers too, in case...

HAGRID: Aye, there's a war games a-coming...I can sense it in the air. <smirks>

While the mutants use the power charger unit to replenish the magic in their rings as well as down the magic formulas to strengthen their muscles and minds for battle, her highness plots strategies with Dumbledore, McGonagall and the former students of HogWarts Academy over the locales of where to launch their strikes.

SALLY: From the looks of things, we have two choices for our war games site. Number one is the Poison Lab.

MCGONAGALL: Um-hm, I see...and the second?

SALLY: Number two is the water reservoir, wherever that is located since I have no idea where it is.

DUMBLEDORE: Oh, that's easy. It can be found outside the town of HogsMead, where the dam and power plant station are located also. In fact, if I'm not mistaken, was it there that you and your teammates attempted to stop the Empire from collapsing the structure and flooding the town itself long ago?

SALLY: Affirmative, sir. Unfortunately we did prevent total collapse of the dam, but the Syndicate got away in the end.

HARRY: So, it's back to the former locale of battle? Only this time to stop the DestrucTix from dumping that mind control substance into the drinking water supply?

RON: Sure looks like it, Harry.

HERMIONE: Great, Round Two at the dam again, ah nuts.

SALLY: Not necessary, my friend. <shakes her head> Instead, we're going to the reservoir site this time around. If the water is poisoned, our earth friends will be zombie slaves forever to Sleuth Dog and his horde.

GINNY: No way, we won't let that happen.

LUNA: We will stop them, as always.

NEVILLE: Boss, we are ready by your command to move out. <bows> Just say the magic word.

SALLY: He-he-he-hm-hm-hm...okay, sure. <grins back> Galaxy Rangers, it's morphing time!

As previously, the heroes lift their rings into the air to call out their vehicle guises and magically transform into the cars and trucks one by one till they were ready to roll out. With Nicole leading the way, flying ahead with the wizards and witches following on their brooms, the convoy sped off and drove through the town-village of HogsMeat, surprising villagers working their stores-shops-inns who watch in curiosity as the vehicles passed by then were gone in minutes. Moments later they pulled up and stopped on the plains around the reservoir, their HogWarts allies touching down to join them.

RON: Look, up there! <he points>

NEVILLE: Oh, no...Syndicate terrorists a-coming!

HARRY: Good grief, looks like all of them at once!

HERMIONE: Stand and fight, prepare to defend ourselves!

Luna and Ginny agree as they ready themselves for battle. Nicole commands the vehicles to...

NICOLE: Rangers, transform!

And in minutes the mutants converge back to their normal selves again, ready to rumble that is.